

Thousands Flee New Floods in California

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Mud-smeared, levy workers slashed across the stony top of the repaired dike at Yuba City today in belief they had saved the city from a second inundation by the Feather river.

Yuba City, however, still remained the critical situation in the northern California flood disaster area.

All the coastal streams that had gone over their banks and driven thousands from their homes over the week-end were reported falling today. The crisis passed when the 43-hour storm that began last Friday came to an end yesterday afternoon.

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Rampaging rivers, swollen by a week-end of steady tropical rains, forced thousands of persons to flee their homes throughout northern California today and posed a serious new flood threat to beleaguered Yuba City.

Moreover, the rains stopped just before sundown last night and the weatherman forecast mostly clear skies today and tonight.

But they had done their damage

Galloping Ghost of the '80s Is Recreated by Local Man

Here is James A. McLarty, Jr., 1502 S. Main St., headed south on Walnut astride a ghost of yesterday — and it is truly a ghost, for all James had to start with was the fork, and the rim and hub of the big wheel.

He found these, brief bones of the old roadster at the home of a Negro named Tyree, who lives between Hope and Blains. McLarty bought the pieces for $1 — and went to work. It took him three weeks, but the other day he came wheeling and dealing past The Star office — and the camera just naturally snapped at him.

James made every one of those spokes in the big wheel, using 1/2-inch welder's rod. He adapted the pedals from another old bicycle. And he picked up a small wheel somewhere to do for the tail assembly. But the handles and tail frame he had to manufacture from pipe.

There is a theory current in these parts that the way you mount this high-wheeled bicycle is to take a flying jump and hope you find the seat. Just for the record, however, that isn't how McLarty managed it. The way he managed it was to make the high step after first mounting the bumper of a car. But back in the '80s there were no convenient car bumpers — so perhaps they really leaped for the sky, they had to.

It's a question that may have to be settled by Talbot Field, Sr., formerly of Hope, now of Texarkana. His old original high-wheeler is famous in these parts. In fact, McLarty used to ride it. Furthermore, it was Field's old machine that gave James the idea of rebuilding this one — virtually from memory as to how the thing ought to look — which it does.

FBI Chief Believes Respect of People Would Greatly Aid Officers in Their Work

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Of all the lost causes of the 20th Century, J. Edgar Hoover has embarked on the one perhaps least likely to succeed. The distinguished director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who has had a marked cultural influence on the underworld, thinks respect for law and order would be enhanced if people would quit calling a policeman a cop.

Cop is an ugly word to Hoover. In an editorial in the FBI's law enforcement bulletin he denounced it as derogatory, disdainful and implying scorn.

This may be true at times when

$4.8 Billions for Veterans Programs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterans programs will cost $4,850,220,000 in 1955-57, President Eisenhower told Congress today.

That is an increase of about 86 million dollars over this year's estimated expenditures. The President's total for the fiscal year started July 1 includes 53 million dollars for construction and improvements at Veterans Administration (VA) establishments, to which would be added some $4,200,000 previously appropriated but not expended.

Eisenhower said the general portion of expenditures for veterans would again go for direct benefits, and that those costs are increasing.

$464 Million for Schools Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to appropriate 464 million dollars to help build public schools and solve the nation's "acute... educational problems."

Of that sum, 376 millions would be federal aid to the states under a matching formula outlined in Eisenhower's five-year, 14-billion-dollar program presented to Congress last week.

The remaining 88 millions would be set aside for school construction in areas overcrowded by military personnel or federal workers. These are called "impacted areas."

Eisenhower estimated that 214 millions would be spent in the fiscal year beginning next July 1, and that 84 millions of that would go to impacted areas and the remaining 130 millions for general public school construction.

This is by far the biggest single increase in the budget's labor-welfare package which calls for spending 228 millions more in fiscal 1957 than in the fiscal year that ends next June 30.

Coffelt Enters Race for Atty. General

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Kenneth Coffelt, a Little Rock lawyer, today filed as a candidate for attorney general in next summer's Democratic primaries.

Coffelt, an unsuccessful candidate for prosecuting attorney of Pulaski County in 1950, said the only issue he expects to be argued in the race will be "who is best qualified to serve in the office."

However, Harve Thorn of Little Rock has announced that he will run for the office now held by Atty. Gen. Tom Gentry on a platform to maintain racial segregation.

Gentry, serving his second term as attorney general, has not announced whether he will seek reelection. He is considered an almost certain candidate for governor against Gov. Orval Faubus. Coffelt served two terms in the Arkansas House of Representatives, from Faulkner County in 1931 and from Saline County in 1937.

She is survived by one son, James R. Bush of Little Rock; three daughters, Mrs. E. R. Sayre, El Dorado; Mrs. J. E. Dodds, Little Rock; and Mrs. J. G. Martindale of Hope. One grandson, Dr. Bud Bush Martindale; three granddaughters and seven great-grandchildren; three sisters; Mrs. Richard O. Hale Nacogdoches, Texas; Mrs. Eberl Woodson, Rodessa, La.; Mrs. W. E. LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Dice-town, U.S.A., has rolled snake-eyes.

The fabulous "glitter gulch" is in trouble. Though tourists and money flowed into this gambling capital in record amounts in 1955, three multi-million dollar casino hotels bit the dust.

Three new ones postponed their gala openings. Two more are slugging it out in court.

Hotel operators, businessmen and gamblers place the blame on such high-priced entertainers as Liberace, Marlene Dietrich, Donald O'Connor and Lena Horne.

Their salaries eat up the profits. "We've created a Frankenstein monster that's ruined half a dozen the number of hotels, also doubled, spreading the gambling income of each thinner than ever."

"We've got to come to our senses," says David Siegel, partner-owner of the Flamingo hotel. "No man or act in the world is worth $50,000 a week (Liberace's price). Our casino percentage is too small to make up for those terrific salaries."

Five or six years ago the stars could be expected to plunge most of their earnings on the dice tables and go home broke. Not any more. They leave town with bulging wallets.

Some guest stars have worked themselves into part ownership of the spots where they perform. Frank Sinatra has a piece of the Sands, and Tony Martin is reported to own a "point" in the Flamingo.

Ike Proposes Balanced Budget With No Tax Cuts, Debt Reduction

$4 Million for Arkansas Flood Control Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four million dollars for flood control work in Arkansas is included in an appropriation recommended to Congress today by President Eisenhower.

That amount is included in a $50,030,000 appropriation recommended for work in the Mississippi River and its tributaries for the 12 months beginning July 1. The President recommended $50,885,000 last year and Congress raised it to $51,982,500.

The President recommended $2,954,000 for the St. Francis Basin, $500,000 for the Lower Arkansas River bank stabilization project, and $350,000 for a similar project on the lower White river.

In addition to the three Arkansas projects, the appropriation included one million dollars for work on the Memphis harbor and $1,960,000 for Mississippi River levees, some of which are on the eastern edge of Arkansas.

Of the total proposed today $41,169,000 would be for construction; $14,125,000 for maintenance of existing work; $849,000 for general investigations and $90,000 for advance planning on two new projects.

Money for one new project in the lower Mississippi Valley was budgeted by the President—$243,000 to start and complete flood protection work at Belzoni, Miss., in the Yazoo River Basin.

Planning funds were recommended by the President for the amount of $40,000 for New Madrid, Mo., and $50,000 for the Baton Rouge, La., harbor.

The lower Mississippi project includes work on that stream and major tributaries below Cape Girardeau, Mo. Congress has authorized a total of $1,437,700,000 worth of work and to date has approved

First Balanced Budget by the President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower sent his first balanced budget to Congress today. It calls for spending $65,865,000,000 in the year beginning July 1, an increase of more than 1 1/2 billion dollars over this year, mainly for defense.

A predicted increase of $1,800,000,000 in revenues, to a total of $6,300,000,000, foreshadowed a surplus of 435 million dollars in fiscal 1957.

The President asked Congress to forego a tax cut unless the cut would not interfere with small debt reductions planned in the new budget.

He also predicted the government would wind up the current fiscal year 23 million dollars in the black. He said spending of $64,270,000,000 will be more than balanced by revenues of $64,500,000,000.

He predicted a debt of $274,300,000,000 on June 30, 1956, and of $273,800,000 a year later.

He asked for new appropriations amounting to $66,231,000,000—almost equal to predicted revenues, and 328 millions higher than planned spending.

No Funds for Two Arkansas Dam Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today declined to recommend funds for the proposed Dardanelle and Eufaula dam projects for the year starting July 1.

Eisenhower said in his budget message to Congress that development of the Arkansas River for navigation "is not of sufficiently high priority" at this time to justify big expenditures.

The President's action drew immediate comment from Arkansas and Oklahoma members of Congress who said they planned to press for appropriations for the two projects regardless of what Eisenhower said in his budget message.

The Dardanelle dam, on the Arkansas River in Arkansas, and the Eufaula on the Canadian River in Oklahoma, are two of several projects involved in a billion dollar development program authorized by Congress for the Arkansas River.

Eisenhower also recommended $14,750,000 for Table Rock reservoir; $500,000 for Red River levees below Denison dam; $1,225,000 for the Texarkana reservoir in Texas; three million for the Oologah reservoir in Oklahoma; and $5,030,000 for work on the lower Mississippi and its tributaries. This latter recommendation includes these items of interest to Arkansas: St. Francis basin $2,954,000; lower White River $350,000; lower Arkansas River $500,000.

Asks 40,000 Miles of Super Highways

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to provide for "a greatly improved highway system" without unbaling the federal budget.

His proposed budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 provides no money to finance the plan to build a 40,000-mile network of superhighways which he proposed over a year ago.

At the same time, however, he said, "I am confident that the expanded program can be soundly financed so as not to create budget deficits."

Interested officials have said there are only three ways to finance such a plan: (1) with money from general tax revenues; (2) through a bond issue; and (3) through an increase in gasoline and other highway user taxes.

In calling for a budget balance, Eisenhower ruled out the first alternative. He suggested a bond plan to Congress last year, but both the House and Senate voted it down. Eisenhower reported it would seem to leave only the third choice.

The only specific highway program set forth in Eisenhower's message today called for $87 1/2 millions in new money to pay for the federal aid highway program already authorized by Congress.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today upheld Arkansas County Chancery Court in its refusal to order removal of a controversial dam in Arkansas County or to award damages for maintenance of the barrier.

De Vore Farms, Inc., sued Butler Hunting Club, asking that it be restrained from continuing to maintain a dam across Mill Bayou and seeking $200,000 in damages for merchantable timber allegedly destroyed by flooding of its lands as a result of the dam.

In reply, Butler denied that the dam has caused water to back up on the De Vore land or that any timber had been ruined.

After a hearing, Chancery Court dismissed De Vore's complaints on the ground that it had failed to make out a case against the defendant.

De Vore appealed, but the Supreme Court agreed with the lower court.

The Supreme Court, with two dissents, said Sebastian Chancellor Franklin Wilder erred in dismissing a suit over proposed sale of a motel without hearing both sides of the case.

Pearl Ray sued Edward Jr. Robben, asking that Robben be required to carry out a purported contract by which he was to buy a motel at $408 Midland Boulevard, Fort Smith, from Mrs. Ray for $17,500.

After hearing testimony for Mrs. Ray, the chancellor held that she hadn't made a case strong enough to require any possible refutation on the part of witnesses for Robben. Wilder dismissed the complaint.

Press Group Favors Utility Advertising

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Press Association has asked regulatory bodies to encourage the use of advertising by utilities rather than seeking to restrict it.

Utilities frequently have been criticized on the ground that they spend too much money for advertising, or that as monopolies they should not be allowed to advertise. Arguments usually are presented by opponents of utility rate increases in hearings before the Arkansas Public Service Commission, although similar criticisms have been made during political campaigns.

The APA, which ended its annual mid-winter meeting here Saturday, said that advertising performs "a vital function in the U.S. economic system."

The resolution said that utilities "have the problem of increasing the use of their products and of persuading consumers to

DOROTHY DIX

Spendthrift Fiance Poor Risk For a Husband

Dear Miss Dix: Bill and I have been engaged for three years. In that time he hasn't saved any money. Whenever he gets a few dollars together he goes on a drinking spree for three or four days, and doesn't go to work. He doesn't want to discuss marriage at all; says he's too young for it. He's 31. We seldom go out together. Bill's idea of recreation is a fishing trip with his father, brother or boy friends. What can I do?

Answer: The wisest thing you can do is break this farcical engagement right away. Bill has absolutely no intention of marrying you, and if he did it would be the sorriest day of your life. Just for a moment picture life with a man who goes on periodic drinking sprees whenever a little cash is on hand. That cash isn't important to you now, but it could easily represent bread and milk for your babies. Would you want to be under constant fear that food wouldn't be there?

If you aren't happy in an engagement, what will you have under marriage bonds? Engagements that aren't mutually enjoyed in blissful preparations for the future should be terminated.

Prove Yourself

Dear Miss Dix: Perhaps you don't agree that a girl of 17 can know love. I'm certain of my love for Greg. He is my next-door neighbor and a good friend though, being 28, he considers me "just a kid." He's coming home from Europe soon. How can I convince him that I'm old enough to love and be loved?

MABEL

Answer: Calendar years are very poor indicators of anything, much less love. When is one too young or too old for love? Some people actually never achieve the wisdom to appreciate, much less bestow it. Others, with but a comparatively few years behind them, are thoroughly knowledgeable in his respect.

Seventeen, by general standards, is too young, but exceptions do exist. So let's assume that you are one. It's clearly up to you to show

The current issue of the New York policeman's magazine uses the word cop twice. The television program, "Dragnet," put on with the blessings of the Los Angeles Police Department, starts off week after week with, "The Name's Friday. I'm a cop."

A veteran police sergeant here, admitting that members of the force generally referred to each other as cops and that the term had become well high universal, said: "Underworld characters are supposed to call us names like flat-foot, dick, gumshoe or harness bull, but that's only on TV and in the movies. They call us cops—just like everybody else."

"We actually don't like for civilians to call us cops. We'd rather they addressed us by our rank or used the word 'officer.' We're on Hoovers side, but we think he's fighting a losing battle. It's too much easier to say cop than policeman."

There is some doubt as to the origin of the word cop. Some hold it is merely an abbreviation for "constable of police." Others feel it was coined by London street urchins who mistook the brass buttons of the early British Bobby for copper.

Whatever its etymology, Hoover declared cop has the "same unsavory connotation as 'quack' and 'hack' when referring to the doctor and the journalist."

But, actually, does it? The term is too widely used to be limited to such a meager interpretation. "What man in 'the long blue line' doesn't take pride in being called 'a good cop'?" What policeman can resent an big-eyed kid who looks up at him and says, "When I grow up, I want to be a cop just like you."

Any word can be good or bad, depending on the way it is said. People can be policed, but nobody can police a language.

The irony of J. Edgar Hoover's campaign is that his own splendid career has done much to add a new luster of affectionate respect to that down-to-earth word cop. He might as well face the fact now

Lawmaker Wants Ike for Second Term

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Short (R-Mo.) told President Eisenhower today he "devoutly believes" a second term "will be best for the United States and all the world."

Short's comment was contained in a letter accompanying the gift of a Missouri-made hickory rocking chair. The chair, Short said, is intended for use at Eisenhower's farm home near Gettysburg, Pa.

Expressing hope Eisenhower would have no need of it "for the next five years," Short said:

"It is my firm conviction that you could sit in this chair on the front porch of your Gettysburg farmhouse and without even rocking or making a single speech be re-elected President of the United States."

that if he ever steps down from his present high post, newspapers will bloom with 1,000 editorials headed:

"An honest cop retires."

States." Short, senior Republican on the House Armed Services Committee, told Eisenhower it would be "wise and unfair" to ask anyone to run for the presidency if he is physically able.

Braves Banking on Some Four Newcomers
By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, tired of their perennial position as National League bridesmaids, are banking on at least four newcomers in their outstanding rookie crop to lead them to long-awaited pennant in 1956.

The four — pitchers John (Red) Murf and Humberto Robinson, outfielder Wes Covington — are among a group of newcomers who will be looked over with extreme care in the Braves' Bradenton, Fla., training camp this spring.

The Braves shelled out a reported $40,000 for the 33-year-old Murf despite his advanced age. His record with Dallas warranted it, too. The right-hander came close to making a sweep of Texas League pitching honors with a performance that made him the minor league pitcher of the year. He set the pace in victories with 27, earned runs with 1.99, shutouts with 10, complete games with 28 and innings pitched with 303.

Robinson, a slender Panamanian, figures to win at starting berth. He was impressive in several outings late last season after his recall from Toledo where he won 15 and lost 4.

Torre came up from Toledo with a "can't miss" tag. Just how hard it is to strike out this 24-year-old first baseman is shown by his minor league record. In four seasons he has fanned only 39 times in 1,309 times at bat.

Covington, 23, led the Sally League in hitting last season with the Braves' Jacksonville farm club. His .326 average included 18 homers and he led the league in total bases.

Marlene Hagge Is Sea Island Leader
SEA ISLAND, Ga., (AP) — A beautiful approach shot and a fine putt under pressure yesterday sent Marlene Hagge, a slender blonde, to the top of the leaderboard in the first round of the Sea Island Women's Invitational Tournament, the first in the Ladies Professional Golfers' Association 1956 tour.

The victory was worth $630. Mrs. Hagge won it the hard way knocking in a par four on the first extra hole of a sudden death playoff.

She finished the regulation 36 holes in a three-way tie with Mary Lena Faulk of Thomaston, Ga., and Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis. All three posted 188 in the 36-hole tournament played over the tough links par 36-38-72 course.

Mrs. Faulk and Mrs. Ziske collected checks for $427 and $426, respectively.

Cage Teams to Start Pressure for NCAA Berth

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

The collegians have half the basketball season behind them and now the fun starts—with everybody shooting the works to gain a berth in the NCAA championship tournament.

Everybody, that is, except those amazing San Francisco Dons. They've got their reservation in hand in their bid for a second straight title.

The Dons have tied the 39-game college winning record set by Long Island University and previously matched by Seton Hall. They are on the shelf to tackle midwestern exams and won't go after their record-setting 40th in a row until Jan. 20 when they meet California.

The Dons have an "automatic" entry into the NCAA tournament come March since they can't miss being champs of the California Basketball Association.

The other 24 berths in the play-offs, however, are wide open. Dayton, with a 12-0 record, tops the independents at present, but had to scramble to overcome Canisius 82-73 Saturday.

In the Big Ten, Illinois (3-0) and Purdue (3-1) are on top and they battle tonight. The Illini bounced Indiana 98-72 Saturday while Purdue upset Michigan State 66-62.

In the Southeastern Conference, Vanderbilt and Alabama are challenging the reign of Kentucky. All three are 3-0 and Vandy tries for No. 4 tonight against Mississippi State.

Kentucky breezed Saturday, whipping Louisiana State 107-65 as Bob Burrow scored 50 points. Vandy beat Mississippi 88-73 and "Bama" topped Auburn 88-77.

Duke and North Carolina share the Atlantic Coast Conference lead at 6-1. North Carolina beat Clemson Saturday 103-99, but needed a double overtime, while Duke toppled Maryland 76-62.

In the Southern Conference, West Virginia (5-1) has the favorite role.

Defending champ Colorado tops the Big Seven with a 3-0 mark, with Kansas and Kansas State right behind at 2-1. Kansas clipped K-State Saturday 91-86 and meets Iowa State tonight.

St. Louis (4-0) and the Oklahoma A&M (2-0) are squared off for another Missouri Valley Conference scrap.

Southern Methodist and Wake Forest are the top two in the Southwestern Conference at the moment with 3-0 records. Arkansas plays Texas A&M tonight.

Princeton 3-0 and Columbia (2-0) are the big guns in the Ivy League.

UCLA is tops in the Pacific Coast Conference at 4-0 with Southern California and Stanford 3-1.

Saddler Risks Title Against Flash Elorde
By The Associated Press

A world featherweight title match at San Francisco Wednesday between champion Sandy Saddler and challenger Flash Elorde will steal some of the headlines from the many-pronged investigations of the boxing guild.

Saddler, 29, is favored to cling to the title he held since Sept. 8, 1950, when he recaptured it from Willie Pep. It has been almost a year since Saddler last defended, against Teddy (Red) Top Davis.

The chief reason for the Elorde match is that the little man from the Philippines beat Saddler in an over-the-weight match July 20, 1953 at Manila.

Boxing continues in New York past today's deadline set by Julius Helfand, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, with licensing managers meeting the test by resigning from the broken Boxing Guild of New York.

There were total darkness threatened 10 days ago, now two shows will be run in the state this week at New York and Syracuse.

The Monday pairing between John L. Sullivan of England and Tony Johnson of New York was approved by Helfand in fairness to the boxers and all concerned. DuMont will telecast.

The Friday fight at Syracuse is a match between middleweight Gil Turner of Philadelphia and Jackie Labau of New York.

More Night Games in American Loop
CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (UP) — The lights will go on again all over the American League this year with a record 228 night games listed on the 1956 schedule.

This represents an increase of 80 over last season when 148 games played 208 after-dinner games. The A.L.'s previous high was 224 night games in 1954.

The official schedule, released today by league president William Hardage, lists 616 games. That's more than one-third of this season's games will be played under the lights.

There will be only 154 weekday games played during the daylight hours. Included are two morning and afternoon doubleheaders scheduled by the Kansas City Athletics for Memorial Day and Labor Day.

The 1956 schedule also lists 71 Saturday afternoon games, 138

Four Teams Have Chance in AIC

By The Associated Press

Arkansas A&M put itself and three other teams back into contention in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball race in a single night last week.

The Boll Weevils threw the mighty Mulriders of Southern State 82-80—the first conference loss in six games for Southern. That victory, plus a 91-60 romp over hapless Ouachita pulled Arkansas A&M from fifth to second in the conference race.

Southern still leads with a 5-1 mark. Arkansas Tech, Arkansas College and The College of the Ozarks are tied for third at 3-2.

The Mulriders are certain to hold top rung for another week since a serious shooting is scheduled this week. Southern's only contest is with downtrodden Henderson (1-3) on the Hiders' floor.

The Arkansas State Indians lost their big bid for the title, the Jonesboro school, always tackling the big ones, bowed to nationally ranked Memphis State 74-64 before a packed house of about 4,000 Friday night.

Henderson 83, Teachers 74, Arkansas A&M 82, Southern State 80, Ozarks 84, Ouachita 74, Southwest Missouri 66, Arkansas Tech 62.

Middlecoff Sets Pace at Pebble Beach

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., (AP)—If Dr. Cary Middlecoff isn't one of the greatest golfers in golfing history, he'll do for awhile.

The lean Tennessee sloped over Pebble Beach's 6,701 yards in an almost unbelievable 4-under-par 68 yesterday through a driving rainstorm to win his second straight Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament with a record-shattering 202 for the 54 holes.

"It was one of the greatest, yes, probably the greatest game I ever played," Middlecoff shot. "I don't think I made a bad shot all day."

He had six birdies and only two bogeys over the course, which was under water in many places.

The old tournament record over the three courses played in the Crosby clambake—Cypress Point, Monterey Peninsula and Pebble Beach—was 204, set three years ago by Lloyd Mangrum.

Middlecoff's 202 was 14 strokes under par. He won $2,500.

Trailblazing Mike Souchak, the former Duke University football player, who fired a par 72 for a total of 207. Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, who went into the final 18 holes tied with Middlecoff, blew to a 77 for a 211, which earned him a tie for third with Bill Ogden of Chicago.

Ben Hogan, who came out of retirement to pair with Bing Crosby in the Pro-Amateur, tumbled to 81 for a 221. He and Crosby tied for 10th in the Pro-Am with 196.

News Briefs

ROME, (UP) — Romano Mussolini, bashful younger son of the late dictator, will play the piano in a jazz sextet at the San Rocco International Jazz Festival Jan. 28. It was reported today.

Friends said the 28-year-old Mussolini was persuaded to show his talent to the public by Nunzio Rotondo, king of the Roman Jazz addicts who will lead the sextet.

Mussolini inherited his talent from his father who played the violin and once was said to have told intimates he felt he missed his vocation and would have done well as a concert violinist, friends of the son said.

TOKYO, (UP) — Shigematsu Miyamoto, 50-year-old postman, was rescued today from a snowbank where he was trapped last Tuesday in a raging blizzard.

Miyamoto, who won an award last April for 30 years continuous Sunday contests and 23 holiday night games, will be Saturday night games, with Washington and Kansas City listing eight each.

Porkers Have Chance Tonight to Lead League

By The Associated Press

Arkansas and Southern Methodist, tied for first in the Southwest Conference basketball race, pretty much rest on their laurels this week as Arkansas' only game is with Texas A&M tonight and SMU doesn't play at all.

The surprising Razorbacks, boasting a 3-0 loop record along with SMU, knocked off Texas and Rice last week to climb into a tie with the Mustangs. SMU, leading the season with 13 victories and two losses, played only one game, beating A&M 87-68.

Temple Tucker's shooting kept him ahead in the season and conference scoring race with 363 points for the season and 39 in loop play. Despite SMU's dearth of games last week, the Mustangs showed their potency with three men, Jim Krebs, Larry Showalter and Joel Krog, listed among the top 10 season scorers. Tucker is backed up by Joe Durrenberger of Rice while Arkansas, which had a record of one victory and eight losses in pre-season play, came to the front mainly on team play with only Manuel Whitley listed among the top scorers.

Rice, second-seeded in the conference, tries Texas at Houston tonight in an attempt to get back in the race. Texas has lost four straight in conference play. Thursday Texas A&M hosts Sam Houston State of the Lone Star Conference. Saturday Texas Christian tries to better its disappointing season against A&M at College Station while Rice visits Baylor at Houston.

Last week Arkansas beat Texas 70-67, then surprised everyone by dropping Rice 84-70 with Pete Butler and Whitley doing most of the damage while a tight zone defense kept Rice at bay.

Larry Showalter got hot for SMU and dropped in 24 points as the Ponies beat A&M 87-68. Rice slammed TCU 80-60 and Texas A&M nipped Texas 75-74 with Fritzle Connally, Bill Brophy and George McHaffey making up for Longhorn Raymond Downs' 24 points.

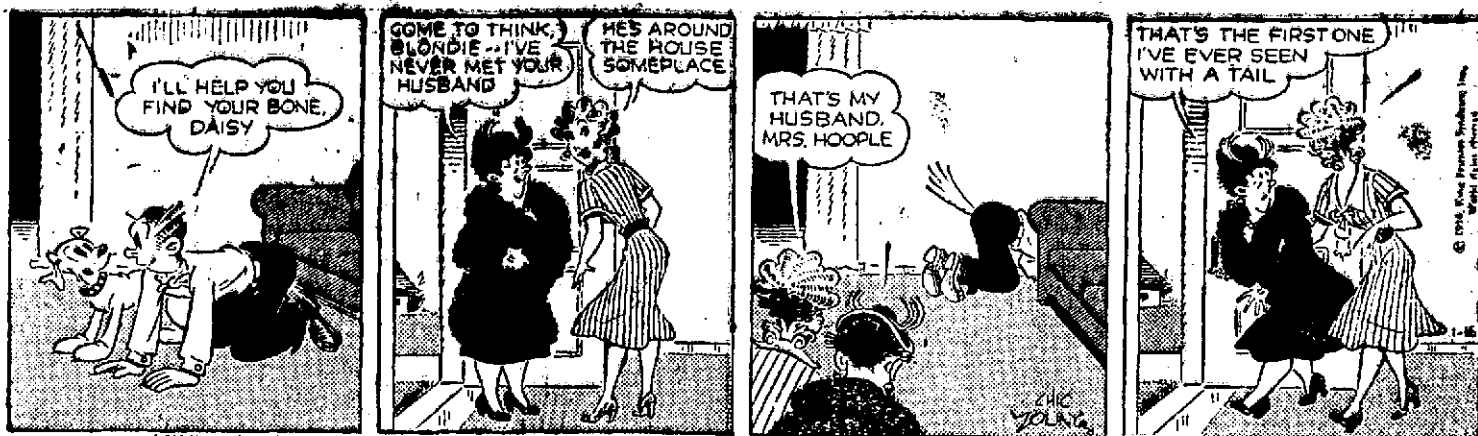

Baylor subdued a rather hapless TCU 83-75 for its first conference victory against two defeats.
